The Department of Hungarian Studies

Croatian-Hungarian Literary Relations (1P+1S, 3 ECTS)

for all graduate students in the winter semester (<https://theta.ffzg.hr/ECTS/Predmet/Index/1885>)

If you are studying comparative literature, Croatian studies, Slavic philology, history, philosophy or something else, and would like to explore an outsider's view of Croatian literature in comparison with another rich literature of the Western canon, this course provides a fundamental comparative overview of the most important Croatian-Hungarian literary intertwining in the Central European cultural and historical context from the Middle Ages to the present day and touches on the most prominent authors, ideas, works, phenomena, mutual reception and literary translations.

Classes (lectures and seminars) are held in Croatian on Fridays from 11:00 to 12:30 in room A217.

For additional information, contact the teachers by email: asekso@m.ffzg.hr and jmann@m.ffzg.hr
